

Inquiring Reporter

"Is chivalry dead?" Salemites apparently don't think so, according to their answers when asked the question by inquiring reporter Carol Croft this week. They are as follows:

Dan Butch, 50 Elm St., Leetonia, bookkeeper, Bricker and Bricker Construction: "No, I don't think so, although I don't think it's 'alive' as it might be. I think that men have come to consider them more as equals since the last two wars. Men wants to be chivalrous and protective basically. Until women make this possible, chivalry won't have the resurgence I'd like to see."

Miss Ruth Hoch, 1126 E. 10th St., business office supervisor, Ohio Bell Telephone Co.: "I feel that in this day and age the true meaning of the word is almost forgotten, but often show up at the most unexpected places and times. It is truly refreshing to see a young boy open a door for an older person permitting her to enter first. No, I can't truly say it is completely dead."

Ron Krofft, 2286 Southeast Blvd., manager, J. C. Penney Store: "No, chivalry is not as evident today as it once was. It is because of the times — the fast pace in which we are moving and the way we place woman in today's life. She has entered into a man's world. About 50 per cent of the top positions in the United States are controlled by women."

Miss Ellen Bossert, 1344 N. Ellsworth Ave., cashier, Economy Savings and Loan: "No, but it's dying fast, although the blame can't be entirely placed on the fellows. It seems the 'ladies' who complain most about the 'little things that count,' such as opening car doors, helping with coats and lighting cigarettes are the first who lunge at those doors, grab coats on the run and flick their lighters before their bewildered escorts have time to say 'Please, May I?'"

John Paul Tolson, 1337 E. 11th St., freshman, Salem Junior High School: "Not entirely, though I do think it is on the decline. Possibly, if everyone would practice the Golden Rule and not think so much of himself all the time, chivalry could become a permanent facet in our daily lives."

Katherine Clarkson, 1448 Buckeye Circle, junior, Salem Senior High School: "I think it's common courtesy now. I don't know if you'd call it chivalry. Boys do open doors for girls. I think chivalry is dying out but it's not dead yet, thank heavens."

George Zeller, 1621 Southeast Blvd., freshman, Salem Junior High School: "I believe that chivalry, in the medieval sense, is not alive today, but most people have their moral codes based on it."

Mrs. Tom Nedelka, 947 Newgarden Ave., housewife and student: "Not yet, but it is dying. This is because more and more women are becoming equals to men, thereby losing out on many of the niceties formerly preferred to them as females."

Two Persons Injured In Road Mishaps

Michael J. New 43, of Canton was treated at Salem City Hospital for a sprained back and bruised ribs after a one-car mishap Friday at 3:45 p.m. on Route 45, a half mile south of Route 30.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol said New went out of control and rolled into a field. The zig-zag path started when the auto went left of center on a curve, slid to the right side, came back across the highway and went into the meadow.

New was cited for speed excessive for conditions.

At 9:40 a.m. Friday, Mrs. Amelia Sullivan, 37, of 295 Ridge St., Leetonia, failed to negotiate a curve on Route 344, two-tenths of a mile east of Leetonia, and hit a mail box and utility pole. She was treated by her family physician for contusions of the left arm and left hip.

No one was hurt in three other mishaps investigated by the Lisbon or Canfield patrol.

Joan Norwood, 22, of RD 5, Salem driving north of Route 14, a half mile south of Canfield, skidded left of center Friday at 8:15 a.m. and sideswiped a car driven by Mrs. Grace Case, 36, of 320 Glenview Ave., Canfield. The local driver was cited for failure to yield half the highway.

Too Much Talk

Senate Fails To Act On 'Excessive Oratory'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The problem before the Senate was whether it has too much talk and too little action.

After several hours of talk Friday about a plea they curb their meandering oratory, the senators quit for the weekend without taking any final action.

Unlike the House, the Senate has no rule of germaneness requiring its members to stick to the point during debate.

This lack of restraint sometimes turns debate into "talk of many things: of shoes and ships and sealing wax—and cabbages and kings." It can also be used by a minority group to delay and sometimes block legislation.

To remedy this, 31 senators have sponsored a bill to change the rules. It would, in the words of its chief sponsor, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., require the senators "to stick to the pending business" for three hours of each day's session.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., told the Senate he is for it, although he considers the proposed rule "relatively harmless."

"It is like dropping a single drop of oil on a turbulent sea," he declared. "It's a faint flicker on the part of the Senate that it ought to get about its business."

"How anyone can oppose it I don't know," said Pastore. Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen is one of those who opposes it. He contends it could shackle the Senate and be "the beginning of the liquidation of the deliberative nature of this body."

To soften the opposition, Pastore agreed to modify the rules change so that it would not prevent a senator from offering a nongermane amendment to a pending bill and then speaking on the amendment.

But, he cautioned, "if you offer a nongermane amendment you've got to be germane to your germane amendment."

This modification was accepted. But there were not enough senators present to have a final vote on the rules change itself and it was put off indefinitely.

"There is little reason to believe that the Senate will reform itself," said Scott, who called last year's 12-month session "a monument to frustration."

Hard-Hit Coal Area Visited By First Lady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson takes a step today to boost her husband's anti-poverty campaign by making a flying visit to a distressed area of Pennsylvania.

The First Lady scheduled a fast-paced day in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area, hard hit by unemployment in the coal industry.

On her first official trip as First Lady, Mrs. Johnson was scheduled to inspect retraining projects and to dedicate a Wilkes College science research building. The trip has attracted considerable attention in the Capitol, and there is much talk that Mrs. Johnson may be following in the footsteps of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a first lady who espoused many humanitarian causes.

Asked Friday at the White House how she felt about such a comparison, Mrs. Johnson answered: "I'd like to be as good as she was, and I have no feeling whatsoever that I am."

Indications Mount Nehru Illness Serious

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indications mounted today that Prime Minister Nehru is sicker than official statements have led the Indian public to believe.

A government publicity officer warned that photograph of the 74-year-old Indian statesman will not be permitted when he returns to New Delhi. He has not been photographed since taken ill on Tuesday in Bhubaneswar where his ruling Congress party held its annual meeting.

Efforts Pushed To End U.S.-Panamanian Rift

PANAMA (AP) — Strong diplomatic efforts were launched on all sides today to resolve the crisis surrounding Panama's decision to break relations with the United States and scrap the 61-year-old Panama Canal Treaty.

In the wake of violence that claimed 23 lives—20 Panamanians and 3 U.S. soldiers—the emphasis shifted to maintaining a state of relative calm. Jails in the capital city were jammed with Panamanians arrested for looting and causing disturbances.

A peace mission from the Organization of American States (OAS) arrived from Washington and arranged for immediate conferences with President Roberto Chiari and Foreign Minister Galileo Solis.

President Johnson's special envoys were also at work. U.S.

Assistant Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann and Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance met for an hour and a half Friday night with President Chiari.

Even as they conferred at the presidential palace new shooting was reported at the canal zone border. Panama officials said U.S. troops opened fire. The only casualties reported were six Panamanians injured by flying glass.

Quiet prevailed in the capital this morning with flags remaining at half-staff and most businesses closed as Panamanians continued mourning for the dead.

Tight security precautions were under way for funeral services planned for early next week. A mass national funeral may be held.

Jails were filled in Panama as National Guardsmen rounded up looters and other perpetrators of violence. One unofficial estimate said 500 were arrested. U. S. establishments were the major target of demonstrations who caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars.

In the disorders that started late Thursday Panama reported 20 of its citizens killed and hundreds wounded in gunfights with U.S. soldiers. U.S. casualties were listed as 3 dead and 49 wounded.

The rioting erupted after a fight between U.S. and Panamanian students over display of their national banners, but behind the immediate cause is the broader question of sovereignty over the canal zone.

At an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council Friday night, Panama demanded that the United States relinquish control of the canal. Panama's delegate, Aquilino Boyd, said the canal should be either nationalized or placed under international jurisdiction.

As news of the dispute echoed around the world and brought new Communist denunciations of the United States, the Organization of American States dispatched its own peace mission to Panama.

In Washington, Johnson telephoned Chiari in an effort to ease tension as the new administration faced its first major international crisis since taking office six weeks ago.

During the telephone talk, Chiari agreed to meet with Mann and Vance, and the two men left immediately by jet for Panama.

GOP Wins Up Big Week Democrats Take Spotlight Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans wind up today a week of meetings that has given party chieftains a firsthand look at many of the GOP's prominent presidential possibilities.

Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, George Romney of Michigan and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona all seized the opportunity to hobnob with the party's top brass.

Rockefeller remained in the capital today, seeking support of District of Columbia Republican leaders in his effort to capture Washington's nine convention votes in the May 5 primary.

Goldwater, the only other announced candidate for the presidential nomination, had a luncheon date in Columbus, Ohio with a group of prospective campaign contributors.

With the GOP concluding its meetings with a routine business session, the Democrats took the spotlight. The party's national committee meets today and Sunday to allocate delegates for the party's convention, to start Aug. 24 in Atlantic City, N.J.

The committee was expected to accept a recommendation of its allocations committee that states be rewarded with 10 bonus votes for going Democratic in 1960 and one extra vote for each 100,000 Democratic votes cast in that election.

With no states due to lose convention strength, this would mean that the 1964 Democratic National Convention would have about 2,200 votes — compared with 1,521 in 1960.

The Republican National Committee approved formally the allocation of the 1,308 delegates for the GOP convention. It also issued a call for the Convention to start July 13 in Daley City, a suburb of San Francisco where the Cow Palace Auditorium is located.

Rockefeller and Goldwater drew large turnouts Friday night at receptions. An estimated 800 persons greeted Goldwater and his wife at a reception given by the Arizona delegation to the GOP meeting. Hundreds joined Gov. and Mrs. Rockefeller at one given by the National Committee for Members of Congress.

Earlier, an overflow crowd of more than 400 crammed into the National Press Club to hear Rockefeller accuse President Johnson of making a "bargain sale" package of promises that "simply will not be delivered at the quoted price."

Attacking the President's State of the Union speech, delivered Wednesday, Rockefeller accused Johnson of ignoring foreign affairs.

He said it would be an empty

U.S. Issues Report on Cigarettes Smoking Held Major Lung Cancer Cause

WASHINGTON (AP)—Smoking cigarettes is a health hazard that calls for corrective action—and is a major cause of lung cancer and other death-dealing disease, especially in men, a blue-ribbon federal panel reported today.

In short, the panel indicated, the more you smoke, the greater your risk of an early death.

The panel also decided that there was "simply no evidence that filters on cigarettes have had an effect in reducing the health hazard from smoking."

The 10-man scientific panel—spending 14 months in its study of available evidence — also found:

1. Cigarette smoking far outweighs all other causes of lung cancer in men—and the data for women point in the same direction.

2. While male cigarette smokers have a higher death rate from heart and blood vessel disease than non-smoking males, it is not clear as yet that smoking is the cause.

3. Cigarette smoking is a significant cause of lung cancer in the larynx or voice box in men.

4. The risk of lung cancer increases the longer you smoke and the more cigarettes you smoke in a day. It lessens if you quit smoking.

5. Cigarette smoking is the most important cause of chronic bronchitis—the coughing irritation of the bronchial tubes—and increases the risk of death from that disease.

6. Cigarette smoking is related to emphysema, a hardening and growing inefficiency of the lungs. But it cannot as yet be called a cause. However, cigarette smoking is associated with a greater risk of dying of emphysema.

7. For most of the people in the United States cigarette smoking is a much greater cause of chronic disease of the lungs and bronchial airways than is pollution of the atmosphere.

While it found all this and more, the committee also said that the significant benefits of smoking are primarily in the area of mental health—"and the habit originates in a search for contentment."

Surgeon General Luther Terry, chief of the U.S. Public Health Service, said in receiving the report:

"Out of its long and exhaustive deliberations the committee has reached the overall judgment that cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant remedial action."

Submitted by Riley Construction Co. $224,316 Low Bid On Infirmary Unit

The Riley Construction Co. of Alliance submitted the low bid of $224,316 for construction of a nursing home unit at the County Home, it was revealed when bids were opened Friday noon by the county commissioners.

Nine other firms submitted bids for the general contract. In addition, bids also were opened on flooring, kitchen equipment, plumbing, heating and ventilating, and electric installations.

The total of the lowest bids in the various categories amounts to $366,640.

Galen Greenisen, president of the County Board of Commissioners, said the bids must be reviewed by the Ohio Department of Health before contracts may be awarded.

A breakdown of the bids follows:

General contractors — Riley Construction Co., Alliance, $224,316; Robert A. Bribben Construction Co., Steubenville, $233,484; Floyd C. Cox, East Liverpool, $234,997; The Builders Company, Inc., Youngstown, $241,800; Cartwright Construction Co., Sebring, $243,400; Mass Brothers, Inc., Beaver Falls, $247,319; United Construction Co., Youngstown, $256,500; J. Mrs. Mallory Returned to N. Carolina

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Willie Mae Mallory, who lost a 26-month battle against extradition, was on her way back to Monroe, N.C., today to face trial on a kidnapping charge.

The 35-year-old negro woman from Brooklyn, N.Y., was turned over to Sheriff D. S. Griffin of Union County, North Carolina, and his deputies Friday night at a motel at nearby Brunswick where they had planned to spend the night.

The transfer was not scheduled to take place until today, but Sheriff James J. McGettrick of Cuyahoga County decided to make it Friday night because of several threatening telephone calls he had received.

The sheriff said Friday he had received five telephone calls threatening both him and his family and one warning that his house would be bombed if he turned Mrs. Mallory over to North Carolina authorities.

Mrs. Mallory, mother of two is charged with kidnapping a white couple during a racial disturbance at Monroe on Aug. 27, 1961. She denied the kidnapping charge, claiming the couple—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stegall—were given protection from a negro mob. Monroe authorities claim the couple was held hostage for the release of several freedom riders who had been arrested.

200 Chicks Perish At Rudebeck Farm

Two hundred day-old chicks of a laying type were burned to death today at 9 a.m. at the farm of John Rudebeck on Wooddale Rd. south of Salem.

The Winona-Butler Fire Department answered the call, but Rudebeck had smothered the blaze by the time of their arrival. The structure was undamaged.

The blaze broke out when woodshavings, used for litter under the brooders, caught fire on the ground floor of a converted barn. Firemen said the loss was insured.

Damascus Man Famed for Art Work

Foster McBride's Water Colors Go On Exhibit

Foster McBride, Damascus artist who wields a water color brush with the same deft skill that he handles a pair of clippers at his barber chair, continues to win new honors at art shows with his paintings.

This week he presented Malone College at Canton with a water color painting entitled, "Peggy's Cove, Nova Scotia." In fact, the college has a full exhibit of McBride's works on display.

"Peggy's Cove..." won the best of show award at the Canton Art Institute show two years ago. It depicts a realistic wharf scene, more abstract in color than in composition, done in wet water color.

For 27 years, Foster McBride cut hair and did a few sketches with his talented fingers. Then 10 years ago, while his wife was hospitalized, McBride, the barber, became McBride, the painter.

Foster McBride And One of His Water Colors

HIS FIRST SUCCESS in exhibitions came about a year after he began painting when McBride was awarded a second place in an Alliance art exhibit. Since then his paintings have won 19 awards, including seven first place awards.

His first one-man exhibition was held four years ago at the Crandall Art Studios, Mount Union College, under auspices of the Alliance Art Center.

McBride, a member of the Canton Art Institute and the Alliance Art Center, specializes in scenes portraying man and his work. His principal subjects are his neighbors in the Damascus area.

Malone College presently is featuring a collection of McBride's paintings and the public is invited to see the exhibit which will remain on display until Feb. 15. The ten-picture showing will present three oil paintings and seven water colors.

INCLUDED IN THE exhibit is an oil painting, "The Launching Site," which was a purchase-award winner in the 1960 Canton Fall Show and is now a part of the Institute's permanent collection. This painting also won first award at the non-professional show in Youngstown.

"Tourists" is another oil painting on display which in 1960 won first award at the Conneaut Lake Show; first award at the Canfield Fair, first award in Youngstown Regional Non-Professional Art Exhibit; and was hung at the National Motorola Show in Chicago.

The third oil painting on display is "Church at Peggy's Cove" which won first prize as the best religious painting at the annual Knights of Columbus Art Exhibit in Midland, Pa.

Among the water colors on display are: "Santee Farm" which won first place at the Fifth Art Show in Midland; "The Refugees," "Parisian Artist," "Fisherman's Cove," "The Presentation," "The Dock Workers," and "Peggy's Cove, Nova Scotia."

A YEAR OF GRACE

As we look back over the past year, two great mountain peaks, as it were, loom up before our eyes — the mountain of our sin and the mountain of God's grace.

The past year, we must confess, has been a year of sinning for all of us. But it has also been a year of God's grace, either accepted or rejected.

As the Bible puts it, "where sin abounded, grace did much more abound." No matter how great our failure to measure up to God's expectations, His love is great enough to cover it.

Christ, the Son of God, has made amends for every sin of last year and for every sin of every year.

For those who have found forgiveness in the Christ of Christmas, the coming 12 months will be another "happy new year," for they will be another year of grace.

Our church is anxious to assist you in making this coming year a blessed year.

Dispute Rages Over Epistles of St. Paul

By TOM A. CULLEN

The electronic brain of a Mercury computer has touched off a fierce controversy in London, England, on the subject, who wrote the Epistles of St. Paul?

The author was not St. Paul, according to the Rev. Angus Morton, a Scottish minister and mathematician. The apostle wrote only a handful of the letters which have been credited to him, and which have become a part of Bible canon.

To prove his point, Rev. Morton recently fed the Pauline Epistles into a Mercury computer. The results show that St. Paul wrote only five of the 14 epis-

Officers Named By Christians At Greenford

Church and Sunday School officers were recently elected by the congregation of the Greenford Christian Church.

Superintendent of the Sunday School will be Leland Cook; assistant superintendent, William Ferguson; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Clark Wisler; assistant secretary and treasurer, Miss Suzanne Robinette; chorister, Walter Feicht; assistant chorister, Mrs. Don Beardsley; pianist, Mrs. Don Howe; assistant pianist, William Charlton; and librarians, Phyllis Mauch and Minnie Kuhns.

Teachers in the Sunday School are Mrs. Jack Mauch, Mrs. Lynn Koch, Mrs. Leland Cook, Mrs. Charles Baird, Mrs. Jack Charlton, Mrs. Artie Wisler, Mr. Cook, Mrs. Ed Westphal, Walter Feicht, Leonard Kille, Wil. Mrs. Lowell Cook, Mrs. Henry Kale, Mrs. Frank Bauer and Russell Hoffman.

Perry Cook was elected chairman of the official board and Almus Beardsley, treasurer. Elected to their first term as deacons were Robert Cain and Lester Shinn. Donald Howe was appointed president of the board of deacons and Wilbur Schaffer, vice president.

Otto Kappler is the newly elected trustee.

Mary Charlton is "good cheer" chairman and will be assisted by Mary Brightwell.

Rev. William H. Mills is minister of the church.

Presbyterians Plan For Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the congregation and corporation of the First United Presbyterian Church will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the church Fellowship Hall.

Officers will be elected, a program budget adopted and reports for the past year reviewed.

Rev. Bruce Milligan is pastor of the church and Dr. J. Paul Graham, associate pastor.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Jackson E. Betts has filed petitions in his bid for re-election to his seventh consecutive term as congressman from Ohio's 8th District. Betts, Findlay Republican, filed papers here Thursday, becoming the first person to file for the position, which represents Seneca, Hancock, Wyandot, Crawford, Morrow, Hardin and Marion counties.

In The Service

Samuel Watson

Samuel W. Watson, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Watson of 342½ S. Broadway, is being reassigned to the Army Language School, Monterey, Calif., for technical training as a U.S. Air Force language specialist.

Watson, who enlisted in the Air Force, has completed basic military training at Lackland, Texas. He is a 1962 graduate of Salem Senior High School and a former student at Youngstown University.

Marine Lance Corporal David M. Butcher, son of Mrs. H. M. Butcher of Butcher RD 3, Salem, is serving in the Caribbean area with Company "I", Third Battalion, Eighth Marines, Second Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Wayne J. Leibhart, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike G. Leibhart of 249 E. Seventh St., has completed two weeks of active Naval Reserve training duty as a seaman recruit at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

James F. Cross, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cross of 311 Center St., Leetonia, has completed basic training recently at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

BOARD TO REORGANIZE

LISBON — The annual reorganizational meeting of the Board of Revision will be held Monday in the auditor's office, with Auditor Kenneth Bell, secretary, in charge.

Commissioner Galen Greenisen, president of the Columbiana County commissioners, and Treasurer Vincent Judge are the other two members of the board.

DIES OF LEUKEMIA

ROME (AP)—Andre Cardinal Julien, 81, French member of the Vatican Curia and dean of the Sacred Roman Rota, died today at a hospital where he was taken last month suffering from leukemia.

REV. MORTON then obtained a $2,240 grant from the Carnegie Trust to buy a machine on which to type out Greek texts so that they could be read by an electronic computer. The works of a dozen Greek authors varying from Socrates to Aristotle were punched onto paper strips, and the resultant 600,000 words were fed to the computer.

"We found that our tests apply to all these writers of Greek prose regardless of the length of time over which they wrote or the variety of their subject matter," says Rev. Morton.

The tests then were applied to the Epistles of St. Paul, with the results already noted. The five epistles which Rev. Morton found indistinguishable, and therefore presumably written by St. Paul, are: Romans, First and Second Corinthians, Galatians and Philemon.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Jan. 11, 1964. There are 355 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1569, the first lottery in England was drawn.

On this date:

In 1865, the State of Missouri adopted an ordinance abolishing slavery.

In 1897, the United States and Great Britain concluded a treaty to arbitrate the boundary between Alaska and Canada.

In 1942, Japan followed up its declaration of war on the Netherlands by invading the Dutch East Indies.

In 1949, television broadcasting was extended from the Atlantic to the Mississippi River with the opening of the coaxial cable linking the Eastern and Midwestern networks.

Ten years ago — New York City's heaviest snowfall in five years—9½ inches—immobilized 75 per cent of vehicular traffic.

Five years ago—A West German Lufthansa airliner crashed near Rio de Janeiro during a storm, killing 36 persons.

One year ago—Premier Adoula warned President Moise Tshombe of Katanga that he would be held personally responsible for further destruction of installations in his province.

30 FEARED DEAD

LAGOS NIGERIA (AP)—About 30 persons are feared to have perished Friday when a dugout canoe and a motor launch collided on the Niger River.

The accident happened near Onitsha in eastern Nigeria and 10 bodies have been recovered. About 45 others were rescued.

Seven Young Drivers Receive Suspensions

LISBON — Juvenile traffic court hearings at the Courthouse this week resulted in the suspension of the driving permits of seven motorists.

Receiving suspensions were: Jeffrey MacLean, 16, of Wellsville, 30 days, following too close.

Dannie Hendricks, 17, Damascus, 30 days, failing to observe stop sign.

John C. Dickens Jr., 16, E. High St., Lisbon, indefinite

(State patrol to hold his license until his muffler is fixed and checked).

Thomas Roger Williams, 17, Wellsville, 30 days, and David Allen Shaw, 17, and Gary Ray Steele, 16 both East Liverpool, each 15 days for speeding. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

EUROPEAN EXECUTED

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — The government reported it has executed its first European since 1952.

Leopold Smith, 34, convicted of shooting four persons near the eastern city of Umtali after an argument last June, was hanged Wednesday.

HEY!

MY PICTURE'S IN THE PAPER

Sure it is! And you're looking at it right now.

Most people get their pictures in the paper because they've done something. But not I!

I haven't done anything. Not yet, that is...

But one of these days I'm going to do lots of things. Big things. Great things. Why, I might even be President of the United States some day.

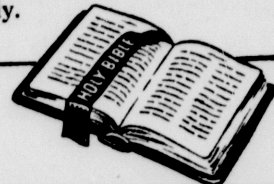

Want to know why my picture's in the paper?

Because I'm one of millions of youngsters who needs to grow up with faith, fortitude, character.

And we boys and girls want you to come to Church next Sunday — and to bring us with you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Legislative Philosophers

It is a safe bet that President Johnson will not go to war with Congress. Unlike President Truman, who became critical of his former colleagues in the Senate and of legislators in general, the former senator from Texas and Democratic majority leader will have infinite patience as far as the legislative mind is concerned.

This will be the key fact in the second session of the 88th Congress.

Legislative philosophers are in all the key positions — Lyndon B. Johnson in the White House, Sen. Mike Mansfield in the Senate majority leadership, Sen. Everett Dirksen in the minority leadership, Rep. John McCormack as speaker of the House of Representatives, Rep. Charles A. Halleck as minority leader.

All these men are weathered by years and experience. They understand the legislative process and the legislative mind. They know every twist and turn of the difficulties that confront a Congress which will be considering a civil rights proposal containing a deeply controversial public accommodations section.

THEY HAVE had time to appraise the irony that came out of the late President Kennedy's proposal for a business-boosting tax cut that was still hanging fire in Congress after business had boosted itself as much as it was to have been boosted by the tax cut.

But Congress would not want to take dead aim at Santa Claus in an election year, and who can be sure that talk of a tax cut did not help the business-boosting which made tax-cutting seem superfluous? So the talk must go on, with reasonable assurance that it may lead to something.

Civil rights talk must go on, too, with assurance it will lead to a filibuster that will undermine faith in the legislative process but in hope the effort will keep the big-city Negro vote in line for the Democratic party.

The prospect is gray and grim. Even talk about a medical care program is gray and grim, because the problem of medical care for the aged cannot be made otherwise.

SEN. MANSFIELD says the prospect is for another year-long session of Congress, with time out for the political conventions next summer.

Everybody is predicting a knock-down-and-drag-out filibuster over civil rights. No one is looking forward to anything but a succession of setbacks, head-on collisions, frustrations and anti-climactic compromises.

Yet, it seems significant the prospect is being faced with composure. The legislative philosophers in charge are not about to make it appear that disaster confronts the United States because Congress lacks the dynamic impulse to put through a crash legislative program.

It has been 30 years since the era of the "rubber stamp," when the White House proposed at will and Congress disposed affirmatively, letting the U. S. Supreme Court resolve all doubts and second thoughts.

It is unlikely the era ever will be revived. Legislative philosophers are in the ascendancy now, and there is no sign they are going to be displaced any time in the near future.

The White House had had to yield to the inexorable pressure of legislative power. Government by deliberation is firmly entrenched, and in government by deliberation nothing ever occurs suddenly.

When the Problem Exists

A forthright confession of alcoholism by the state chairman of the Vermont Democratic party has attracted wide attention and sympathy.

John M. Spencer says he is forced to resign his post as chairman and also his position in the administration of Philip H. Hoff, Vermont's first Democratic governor in 109 years, because of alcoholism. He had been instrumental in the Hoff victory and was expecting to guide the governor's bid for re-election.

The question is, of course, what it always is: Will the victim of alcoholism be able to come back? He is entering a hospital for treatment and says he hopes to bring about a permanent cure.

This is only half the battle — to admit the problem exists and seek help. The other half is how to cope with it after the initial treatment, when the unusual is transformed into the commonplace. An alcoholic cannot stay in a hospital forever.

When the problem exists, it can be solved for the time being through special care and supervision. The real test comes when the special care and supervision cease. It comes when the potential alcoholic is on his own, when even his friends will not assume to tell him what he should do.

The best of luck to John M. Spencer and the hundreds of thousands like him who must grapple with a problem no one else can solve.

Congenital Weakness

A television comedian recently said mothers should tell their daughters about the birds and bees, then their fathers should tell them about automotive traction.

His joke was at the expense of women who never learned to drive a car in snow. It would have been funnier if he had charged fathers with responsibility for explaining traction to both daughters and sons. The boys don't learn it at their fathers' knees, either.

Icy Sidewalks

Icy sidewalks may appeal to youngsters, but not to adults. Letter carriers especially find them a real hazard as they keep their appointed rounds in making door to door mail deliveries.

City officials' appeal for residents to keep their walks free of ice and snow shouldn't go unheeded. People who can't shovel their own walks could at least keep a quantity of salt on hand and not forget to use it.

Falls have already put a number of individuals in local hospitals and in the case of older persons, broken bones sometimes bring on fatal complications.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:
Now that the nation is embarked on a presidential election year and the electorate faces the solemn responsibility of choosing a leader who can affect the course of world history for generations, you should make an extra effort to keep your sense of perspective.

For instance, you are going to be hearing a lot of things about the "left" and the "right."

The way some people put it, the right would abolish the left and the left would abolish the right.

But you can see where that would leave us. How would you like to hop around on only your right or left leg all the time?

And if you are right-handed, you would have to switch to left-handed to please some of the vociferous partisans.

THEN THERE ARE THE political speakers who are always late for their engagements because (1) they never turn to the right and have to travel a long way around to their destination, or (2) they never turn to the left for fear of criticism and have to get to their destination with right turns only.

The left would have us salute with our left hand, and the right would abolish the emphasis on the left foot in marching. To say nothing about placing the right hand on the Bible when taking an oath, or our custom of shaking hands.

You can see how complicated the whole thing could be.

IF THE BUSINESS of choosing a president weren't so serious, you could regard the entire campaign as silly. The tumult and the shouting won't die until next November.

It is always reassuring to remember that opposing candidates try to seem as different as possible from each other, but when they arrive at the center of power they often seem closer together.

An easy way to remember this, to put it simply, is that the campaign is like a centrifuge with the political opponents whirling around separating themselves from each other, but once they are elected the responsibility of running the government becomes like a centripetal force acting on officials. Hope this helps you.

"Happy, Legislative Year—Bah, Humbug!"

Rail Strikes Expected

By VICTOR RIESEL

Insiders at the White House and experts in the field are expecting a railroad strike in late February or March.

Victor Riesel

It won't be a national stoppage paralyzing the country, which rail brotherhood leaders have been predicting publicly. It "merely" will cripple parts of the land. It will be a selective strike of one key line in the East and one road in the West.

There simply is no way to stop such a walkout after mid-night Feb. 24 except a new law by Congress. President Johnson would have to go up the Hill to fight for it. He does not want to do this just as he swings his new administration into high gear.

He would have to ask for an anti-strike law if the five operating (on-train) unions coked up all the lines. So their strategy will be to avert presidential action by refraining from jeopardizing the security and economic welfare of the United States.

The embattled rail union chiefs reckon that, by stalling two important lines, they'll make their point and still not provoke either the Congress or the President.

THE LABOR LEADERS are serious in their strike threat. As early as last October, Roy Davidson, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, flatly asserted:

"We intend to score a real victory on these other issues. If we don't, I'm willing to guarantee that there will be a crisis that will make the one this past summer look like a Sunday school picnic."

"What are these other issues?"

They are the work rules changes demanded by the railroads. Observers recall that when the steel industry demanded rules changes in their plants in '59 the steelworkers went out for 116 days.

There is a basic issue inside an issue here. If the railroads win their point, they will have established "the right, philosophically" of the employer to make demands in negotiations for a cutback in union standards enjoyed in previous contracts.

There are important union demands, too. But first, here is an analysis of the rules changes they are fighting.

THE COMPANIES say they have the right to use crews interchangeably inside the yard and over the road. They charge that union objections to this cost the lines many millions of dollars.

For example, here is the case of the Chicago and Northwestern road. For half a century, say the railroad people, the line used yard engines to give its long freight trains a shove to get them started faster.

Then the rail unions charged that this was road work, not yard work. If so, this would mean being paid twice—a day's wages for road operations and a day's pay for yard work—or two days pay for the same crew of the engine which did the shoving.

This dispute went to arbitration. The ruling favored the union. The decision said that the two days' simultaneous pay would have to be made for each shove.

THE RAILROAD operators also cite the Burlington's 1,034 mile run between Chicago and Denver. Eight train crews are needed. The lines say that this costs them a day and a quarter's pay for each crew member for every two hours of running time.

Now the lines want the rules changed so they can use yard and road crews interchangeably and lengthen the duration of runs.

On the other side, the brother-hoods have grievances of their own. Their members do not get expenses for time spent laying over between train runs away from home. They claim that this is costly, since the intervals range anywhere from a few hours to the better part of a day.

They state that theirs is the only industry which does not pay overtime after eight hours. They want it. They are asking for special differential pay for the night shifts and for Sunday and holiday premium pay.

THE UNION'S slogan is: The other industries have such benefits, why not ours?

No one has figured the cost of these so-called "secondary issues" — secondary to the fight over the size of crews and the use of firemen on oil-burning Diesel locomotives. But the pay and rules issues are not secondary. They involve sums ranging up to a billion dollars a year, according to one government official.

The railroads have the right to institute most of the rules changes they seek. The unions now have the right to strike. White House sources believe the brotherhoods will walk out to ward off such changes in traditional railroad operations.

For Lyndon Johnson the crisis could not come at a worse time.

History Repeating Itself?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The same circumstances which in the 1930's helped to bring on World War II are beginning to be visible again to the naked eye.

David Lawrence

profit, irrespective of consequences has made a shambles of one of the strongest instruments of foreign policy that the free nations possess — namely, the power of an economic boycott or embargo.

Plainly, the mistakes made by the Department of State here — under the preceding as well as the present administration — emphasize that, unless there is unity among the Western allies, the chances of thwarting the Communists, either in Europe or even in Cuba, will steadily diminish.

America decided, for instance, not only to sell wheat to the Russians but to allow government credit to be used for the transaction. Companies in Great Britain now have decided to sell buses to Castro in Cuba, making available to him transportation for his troops and, even more important, indicating to the whole world that Communist Cuba can receive aid from the closest friends of the United States in the Western alliance.

This is a severe blow to American prestige in Europe as well as in Latin America. It disrupts the unity the Western world seemingly possessed and notifies Moscow that it now can trade freely with all the Western countries because of the precedent set by both American and British commercialism.

THIS ISN'T a novel development. Before World War I and even during that bloody conflict itself, traders in Great Britain actually sold strategic goods and other supplies to the enemy.

One of the most interesting books published after World War I was that of a British naval attaché stationed in Stockholm, Sweden, who disclosed that shipments from Britain to Sweden — against which he had repeatedly protested — were re-transported during the war to purchasers in the German empire. The British government at the same time had criticized the shipment of goods by American companies to neutral countries.

It was only after the United States entered the war that enough influence was brought to bear to stop the trading between British merchants themselves and the eventual recipients in Germany.

In the 1930's, an attempt was made to embargo oil to Italy in order to punish Mussolini for his aggression in Ethiopia.

The Western European countries did not go along, and America's efforts in that direction were futile.

Indeed, the records also show that copper and other strategic materials were sold to Hitler by the British up to within a few months of the outbreak of war in 1939.

No war will be won or lost by the sale of wheat or buses, but the principle of an embargo is vital as a weapon of diplomacy. It has, of course, been tried in vain before, but there always has been hope that an enlightened opinion in the free countries of the world would see the possibility of preventing war by using economic force.

SO LONG as commercialism supersedes all other considerations, an economic embargo will be difficult to apply. It has been urged that the United Nations should, in some way, bring about effective embargoes as a means of preventing war but when distinctions are made between strategic and non-strategic goods, the door gradually is opened to the sale of a variety of supplies which a prospective aggressor would like to acquire.

Faced as the world might be with "limited" wars that could grow into nuclear war, it has been the contention of the advocates of the embargo formula that world opinion would sooner or later have to accept the restraints that an embargo agreement would impose.

The United States has not been free from blame in recent months. When the sale of wheat to Russia was proposed, voices were raised in Congress urging that the United States should not give its consent.

Canada, of course, had sold wheat to Red China, and other members of the Western Alliance had been trading with the Communist countries. But political pressure was brought to bear on the Kennedy administration to try to get the wheat seal consummated so as to sell some of the agricultural surplus of this country.

SO TODAY an official source in London says to the press:

"The United States has a surplus of wheat, and we have a surplus of buses."

It's believed probable now that other commodities will be sold to Cuba. Russia presumably will lend more and more money to Castro and help him finance the purchase of needed goods.

Improving economic conditions inside Cuba is very important in maintaining internal peace. If they worsen, the discontent of the people will increase. Now that Castro has been able to get help from Russia and from Great Britain, this will be publicized widely inside Cuba and will discourage revolutionary efforts.

For all practical purposes, therefore, Communist Cuba now has been propped up, and the efforts of the United States to bring about the disintegration of Cuba by an economic boycott have been seriously impaired.

Through The Years

10 YEARS AGO — C. B. Alderman of Warren, vice president of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp., spoke to members of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

About 900 persons attended the Town Hall program last night at the High School and heard Mrs. George Crile of Cleveland a deep sea diver.

25 YEARS AGO — John Hochadel was elected last night as a member of the Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Rev. John Bauman was elected president of the congregation at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

35 YEARS AGO — The first "sound" movies ever heard in Salem will play at the Grand theater all next week, Virgil Rakestraw, manager, announced today.

S. N. Van Blaricom was installing officer when officers were installed last night at the Salem Grange meeting.

Our Readers

Now, Buses For Cuba

Just a word, if I might, about the British-Cuban bus deal and the scorn with which Britain treated U.S. protests.

Our State Dept. contends that by selling $11.2 million worth of buses and parts to Cuba, Britain is undermining our economic embargo aimed at weakening the economy of Fidel's regime. The contention seems reasonable and valid.

Yet Washington just recently gave the nod to the $80 million wheat sale to the Soviet Union. Are we to believe that this will weaken the Soviet economy? Or that this wheat or part of it, could not very well end up in Cuba, if the notion strikes Nikita's fancy? Surely this could not be construed as weakening Fidel's economy.

Come now, Washington, let's have a little consistency. I think then our protests might be treated with a trifle more consideration. To be sure, it wouldn't hurt our sagging prestige.

Ernest Rea,
RD 3, Salem.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm only the husband and father in our family so of course I don't have much to say. I'm allowed to pay the bills and drive everybody where they want to go.

I'm keenly aware that in our society children are the central figures so I have learned to keep my mouth shut and do as I'm told.

There is only one thing I want out of life, Ann, and please tell me if you think I'm unreasonable. When the family finishes with the newspaper I'd like to have it handed over in readable condition.

Yesterday there was a big hole in the page where your column had been ripped out. Our daughter was sending it to her boy friend. There was another hole where my wife had torn out a recipe for potato kugel. My mother-in-law plays the stock market so the financial section is always upstairs in her room.

If I complain, I'm "grumpy." Any suggestions you have to offer will be greatly appreciated.—MERE MALE.

Dear Mere: The solution is so obvious I'm surprised you haven't thought of it. It would be well worth the money if you invested in a second subscription to this excellent newspaper. Call it a contribution to your mental health.

Nerves Rubbed Raw

Dear Ann: The letters signed "A Polaris Wife" struck a raw nerve. My husband is not in the Navy — he's a traveling salesman — away from home five days and five nights a week.

Married women who get into mischief and use "loneliness" and "time on their hands" as excuses are only kidding themselves. The wife who wants to play around will manage somehow to find the time.

When I was a child I remember vividly the woman next door who was the center of much gossip. Her husband wasn't in the Navy. He was right in this city. Another neighbor who lived across the street had no children but she was so busy doing thoughtful and generous things there was never a breath of scandal about her.

I'd like to warn Mrs. Polaris against thinking that extra marital affairs will solve her problem. They'll only hatch new ones.—ALONE TOO.

Dear Alone: Many women with absent husbands wrote in response to Polaris's letter but yours said it best. Thank you for writing.

Pre-Empted

Dear Ann: My husband's mother, who was a dear, sweet person passed away recently. Her relationship with her 'tw daughters was not good. In the 20 years I have been in the family, my mother-in-law had suffered considerable anguish due to the selfishness of her daughters.

She was not a wealthy woman but was a collector of exquisite antiques and silver. She frequently told me she'd like me to have these objects when she passes on.

The day before the funeral her daughters went through her home and helped themselves to everything of value.

My husband is furious. He feels we should demand that they share some of his mother's treasures with us. I want no part of such a family fight. What is your opinion? — PRE-EMPTED.

Dear Empted: I'm with you. Nothing of material value could possibly be worth the ugliness which would surely result from getting into a hassle with the vultures.

It's too bad your mother-in-law didn't put her generous intentions in writing. This is the only way to make sure that worldly goods will be disposed of in accordance with the wishes of the owner.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Meet That Deadline,' School Editors Exclaim

With nearly every high school in the area putting out a semi-weekly or monthly newspaper, perhaps it isn't assuming too much to speculate that some of the members of the staffs may someday notch a spot for themselves on some of the nation's biggest publications.

Of the seven schools represented pictorially on this page, four have their papers printed and three are mimeographed. Those which are printed are Lisbon, Salem, Columbiana and United, while Crestview, Leetonia and West Branch papers are mimeographed.

While putting out a four-page semi-weekly newspaper, which is the average size of the publications, may not seem like a difficult job to the average person, it must be remembered that most of the schools do not have journalism classes and many do not even have a definite period of time to work on the paper.

But despite various handicaps, the editors and their staffs always "meet the deadline."

UNITED HIGH SCHOOL — Staff members Nancy Gause (standing) and Shirleen Howard discuss last minute changes in the Eagles' Voice with Adviser John Calvin.

CRESTVIEW HIGH SCHOOL — Artist Leslie Cope is offered ideas for an upcoming cartoon by members of the Crestview staff (l. to r.) Beverly Dodge, editor; Gaynelle McIluff, assistant editor; Frances Tenzek, and Mrs. Mary Ann Hart, advisers.

LEETONIA HIGH SCHOOL — Four of the more than 70 members of the Bear Facts staff take time out from their work to study another school's paper. Left to right they are Caimella Nicotera, Bette Brooks, Marshall Lee and Editor Sharon Westbrook.

Spanish goes to the head for a new mood in coiffures. Lupe of Julius Caruso created these high but unteased styles primarily with switches. For evening (left) the stylist chose the Castilian Crown inspired by Queen Isabella. The loops are separated unevenly to form petals. Back is simple and upswept. Lupe whipped up the Castilian Fantasia (center) as a fun daytime hairstyle. The top hair forms five loops while the rest of the sides and back are turned under with the ends flapped toward the cheek. Again the high crown (right) is achieved with a switch and the ends fall in a swirling line. Two loops in back for a plumed effect complete the Castilian Bonnet.

Book Club Hears From Guest Speaker

Dressed in the native costume of a high caste woman of India, Mrs. Donald Johnson was guest speaker when members of the Salem Book Club met Monday afternoon at the Ruth Smucker House.

She told of the climate, customs and religions of India and illustrated her talk with colored slides and a large display of art, handicraft and precious stones from that country.

Following the talk her mother, Mrs. M. H. Critchfield, served chicken and rice curry, a favorite dish in India.

In keeping with the program theme, Mrs. Fred Schramm presented a paper, "Meet Mrs. Indira Gandhi" which told about the Prime Minister of India's daughter.

David Freseman entertained with three piano solos, "Pre-lude" (Chopin), "The Little White Donkey," and "Sonata Seven" (Haydn).

Mrs. Z. R. Taylor presided and Mrs. E. S. Vinent gave the prayer.

The club will have a joint meeting with the Music Study and Travelers clubs Jan. 22 at 1:15 p.m. at the Smucker House.

BOLD DOTS — Giant black polka surah jacket, and matching bandana hat is designer Pauline Trigere's way of getting the spring fashion message across.

AND DASHES — Black splashes of dashes on white silk two-piece costume with a long, lean over-blower was created by Teal Traina for the womanly season.

MORE DOTS — Are on white this silk pleated chiffon turtle neck bodice and matching jacket, with a jet black skirt by Geoffrey Beene. It's all femininity.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — You may be knee-deep in boots, choked up in turtlenecks, swathed in fake fur and shivering with goose bumps at the moment, but there is a new feminine you just around a sunny spring corner.

Soon you're due to peel off your cocoon of sportive tweeds and pack your "mannish look" in camphor. Although designers have diverse ideas of how you should accomplish this, they have unanimously endorsed your fashion right this spring to emerge as a woman once again.

The many ways of being womanly, as interpreted by America's trendsetting couturiers, was scheduled to be a subject of study during the week Fashion Press Week Jan. 4-10 by visiting reporters.

This year more than 75 designers were to be represented in a marathon of style shows presented simultaneously by both The American Designers Group coordinated by Eleanor Lambert and the New York

Couture Group headed by Kitty Campbell.

A preview of these styles indicate that you will have two choices in figuring this spring—either subtly or snugly. If you favor well-defined curves and/or a cinched in waistline, you will seek the designers advocating the fitted look.

If you prefer to suggest your shape rather than shout it, you'll drape yourself in bias-cut crepes and silks and loosely cut suits created by the unfitted camp.

But don't think you can guess by past performances which designer is following true to form. They are all mavericks.

Your hemlines will stay put but your waistlines will dance up and down like a yo-yo, with many of them settling around the hip one, and sashed or belted for emphasis. Sleeves on the new spring styles are capped, or long, full and gauzy. Or dresses are bare-shouldered, to be covered with capelets or brief jackets when the air conditioning demands it.

You'll be a white collar girl again this spring too, wearing a frothy meringue to perk up your gray-pin stripes, soften your navies. And maybe you'll complete the icing with fake white cuffs, and slick white patent leather belts.

You will surely emerge from your winter cocoon a social butterfly, with gossamer things for going places that flutter and blouse and drape weightlessly across your framework. These will be imprinted with zingy splashes of dots and dashes, or delicate smashes of pastel posies, or gaudy giant horticultural fantasies.

Such will be yours in crepes and silks and chiffons that halt at the knees or float to the floor.

Perhaps much more of you will emerge than you modestly might have thought possible last spring. The designers who are going all-out for this womanly woman in fashion era are dropping décolletage to hitherto unknown depths.

But if you are not quite that eager to be a fashion feminist, you can always wear the dresses backwards.

Leading French Artist Says:

American Women Are Lucky

NEW YORK (AP)—For nearly 20 years paintings signed Theobald have created a stir in Europe. Theobald's awards include the top prizes in the art world.

Not long ago one of the top English language newspapers in Paris printed a glowing account of Theobald's most recent showing and called the painter: "An artist at the forefront of his contemporaries."

HEARTWARMING praise indeed. Especially since Theobald is a woman—a pretty, brown-eyed blonde named Mrs. Dubois de Montreynaud, wife of a distinguished mathematician and mother of five daughters.

The other day in New York, on her way home to Paris from her first U.S. exhibition—in San Francisco—Mrs. Montreynaud explained how a woman copes with the great French prejudice against women artists.

"I've painted since I was 18," she said. "At 20 I was already a permanent member of a famous old French society."

"Using my name as it was, Theobald—Renee Theobald was my maiden name—they didn't know I was a woman."

She added charitably: "It's true maybe that many ladies just paint for pleasure."

But anyway, she said, Europe is becoming so quickly Americanized "its going to be better for women one of these days."

"LIFE IS MUCH EASIER for women here in America," she said. "It's a small thing, but you are living in a temperature 5 degrees Centigrade (9 degrees Fahrenheit) higher than we are living. Women can dress in sleeveless dresses and let the men boil. In Europe men are nice in our temperature and the women have to dress entirely covered up or freeze. I'm always a little cold."

"When I went back last time from here, about a year and a half ago, it was freezing in my home and I wanted to turn the heat up. 'No,' said my husband, 'it will be too hot.' I discovered we in Europe are living as men like to live; here it's lived for the women."

Nonetheless, her husband approves of her painting.

"I'm happy he respects my work and that he thinks it important for me to keep on painting. I try to help him in his field too. The fulfillment of one person in a family can be fulfillment for the whole family if we share."

"He brings home often scientific people and I like to hear what they say and discuss."

SHE USES ONE ROOM of their large Paris apartment as a studio. "That way I'm home with the children and can help them with homework when varnish is drying or I'm doing lots of secondary things."

Her daughters' ages range 5 to 15.

Mrs. Montreynaud said she's called an expressionist "and I guess I'm nearest to that."

Whatever she is, she's not devoted to abstract art.

"I'm very sorry," she said, "that Andre Malraux, our minister of culture, with his reputation being such a cultured man, is putting emphasis on abstract art and considering it modern art, for abstract is not the French way of art."

"For Americans maybe, but French feeling has never been that way. Abstract art has been a very interesting new way to look, but it's something like a laboratory study."

PERHAPS EVEN MORE than abstract art, the prospect of homogenized civilization brings out her strongest feelings. She said:

"America is interesting to watch because, whether you believe it or not, that's the way we French will be in four or eight years. The differences are getting smaller and smaller. 'We're losing the greatest riches of the world, which lies in our differences. Remaining individual is a joy of life, the reason for living.'"

But she loves America, she protested.

"I have never completely recovered from a feeling I had at 18 when the American Army came to Paris."

"After four dark years, they came so gay and powerful and happy, and the whole town fell in love with them. For the rest of my life I will have a special feeling for America."

We, the Women

A Little Blarney Helps

By RUTH MILLETT

The surest way for a man to make his wife happy with her lot, however meager, is to show her how much he appreciates her love and loyalty.

In today's mail there is a letter from a woman who wouldn't be blamed for complaining that her life is hard. She has six children and her husband's income is small.

Her house isn't partitioned into rooms because that "luxury" has to wait until the loan which made the bare structure possible is paid off.

Yet this woman sounds happy. And the reason for her happiness, I'm sure, is explained in these few words: "My husband has kept me filled full of hope and blarney for years and helped me develop a sense of humor."

THEN I HAVE a letter from another woman reader. This woman doesn't have the money problems, nor all the work, since she has just one child, yet she isn't happy at all. Why? Because her husband points out her shortcomings, and never offers any praise or encouragement.

"I get so discouraged," she says, "that if it weren't for the baby I think I'd just walk out." Comparing those letters any husband ought to realize how important praise and appreciation are to a woman.

One woman takes hardship in her stride, simply because she has a man who values her happiness enough to keep her spirits high by encouraging her to see the funny side of life.

The other can't even take pleasure in the good things she has because her husband is more interested in pointing out her faults than in praising her virtues.

The old-fashioned mother's advice to the bride, "Feed the brute," is outdated. Today's young wife need to be more than a fancy cook.

To keep her youthful husband in peak physical condition and to prevent circumstances that might lead to heart attacks at an early age, the modern bride needs the guidance of medical and nutrition research. Thanks to the nutrition and health columns of newspapers and magazines and to reliable popular books, this guidance is easily available.

Theodore B. Van Itallie, M.D., director of medicine at New York's St. Luke Hospital, says research studies now in progress will help young adults find out whether heart attacks can be avoided or delayed through intelligent diet planning and regular physical activity.

"If such a program is found effective, it will mean attention must be given to diet and activity from early adulthood on, or even earlier, since coronary heart disease often has its beginnings in the teens."

ALTHOUGH DIET is believed to be the major environmental factor affecting the blood level of cholesterol and other fats implicated in heart disease, physical activity also may be important. Dr. Van Itallie adds:

"There is evidence that a physically active person can eat richer and higher calorie diets with great safety than can a sedentary one."

He cites studies made in Switzerland of hard-working farmers. Their diets were higher in dairy fats and calories than those of men of the same age leading more sedentary lives in the nearby city of Basel. Even

Because young persons with a greater risk of developing heart disease than individuals of the same age and sex with low levels, the doctor believes the determination of blood cholesterol levels can be a useful part of the annual physical examination.

"If a YOUNG person's cholesterol is high, he should con-tions. To young wives Dr. Van Itallie says, "Encourage your husband to get regular exercise by walking more, playing golf, swimming, bowling—whatever form of activity he gets most fun out of. Join him as often as possible. Make planned physical activity a way of your young married life."

The promise in Dr. Van Itallie's advice, as well as that of many other leading medical and nutrition researchers, is this: Intelligent diet and regular physical activity can keep young hearts younger longer.

DON'T WORRY about any probable bad effects of exercise on your heart. "Exercise and Health," published by the American Medical Association researchers, states:

1. Despite the popular belief to the contrary, the life expectancy of athletes (persons exposed to vigorous exercise) is as high as the average expectancy, and excluding accidents is probably higher than the average.

2. The percentage of athletes who are afflicted with degenerative diseases is probably lower than for the general population.

3. Vigorous exercise reasonably applied under rational conditions will not damage healthy young hearts. Proper exercise as a way of life helps to keep healthy hearts healthy and to prevent the onset of cardiovascular disease.

What Exercise Will Do

(By Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

To burn up through exercise 100 calories of the food he has eaten, a 180-pound person can do any of the following:

- Walk at 2 miles an hour for 30 minutes.
- Bicycle at moderate speed for 21 minutes.
- Dance the waltz for 13 minutes.
- Walk downstairs for 14 minutes.
- Saw wood for 11 minutes.
- Swim for 10 minutes.
- Walk upstairs for 4.6 minutes.

The heavier one is, the more calories are used in any given time in activities involving the use of the entire body. A 250-pound person would spend 100 calories in walking at 2 miles an hour for 21 minutes instead of the 30 minutes required by the 180-pounder.

so, the farmers had a lower cholesterol level.

"There is still only circumstantial or inferential evidence that lowering cholesterol levels by diet or other means will reduce heart disease. But if you accept—as many scientists do—evidence and believe it possible to delay the rate of progression of heart trouble by keeping the cholesterol low then the earlier you start the better."

sult his doctor about a suitable table diet and other measures to help reduce it," advises Dr. Van Itallie, who is also associate clinical professor of medicine at Columbia University.

There are many reasons why regular physical activity is desirable from the health standpoint, but such exercise must be part of the daily program and not merely reserved for occasional weekends and vaca-

Salem's Only Woman
Barber Excels As
Hair Stylist

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

Salem's only woman barber has two dreams:

- (1) To set up her own specially designed barber shop in the downtown section.
- (2) To cut Tennessee Ernie Ford's mop of hair.

Mrs. Kay Ward is one of not more than a half dozen female barbers in Ohio. Her nearest counterpart is one near Warren.

It would be safe to say that Mrs. Ward, the former Kay Myers, was one of the pioneer men's hair stylists in Ohio. She began her clipping trade 26 years ago, after six months of training at the Moler Barber School in Cleveland.

She has had her own shop in her home at 982 Liberty St. for six years, after working in several shops in Salem, including that of Dominic "Pop" White.

THE PETITE, dark-haired mother of three daughters has a limitless imagination on matters of her profession.

For example, she thinks getting one's haircut is a private affair, not a job to be done while on public exhibit. Her dream headquarters is a shop where men can get privately a good haircut amid elegant to semi-elegant surroundings including plush waiting seats, soft music, pleasant colors . . . but no television. She thinks a barbershop is no place for TV.

restful atmosphere is her goal. She likes the new trends in men's hair styling. This is why she has a particular propensity towards cutting college boys' hair. "They're more daring in their hair styles in no rut" Mrs. Ward says.

Whereas two or three types of haircuts were in vogue when she began barbering in Canton as an apprentice now you can't count the styles. Mrs. Ward said style is dictated by the man's head shape and hairline besides his individual preferences.

FASCINATED WITH her work — "I hope I never have to retire" — Mrs. Ward likes the perpetual motion of the trade. "The barber who quits learning might as well hang up 'his razor,'" she declares. Through barber's journals, she keeps abreast of what's new about hair and hair-cutting.

"When I think I'm getting in a rut, I go out and discuss new tricks-of-the-trade with barbers whose work I admire," she says.

Besides being prettier than most barbers, she's different in another respect. Men haircutters have a stereotyped reputation, be it deserved or not, for garrulousness. Topics — baseball, football, politics and gossip. Some customers close their eyes and feign sleep, or actually do sleep, to escape the steady chatter.

Not so in Mrs. Ward's one-chair shop. There, her role is mainly one of a pleasant, responsive listener. Many of her clientele feel her comfortable barber's chair a fine place to get in 40 or more winks.

WHAT'S THE FUTURE of the male-female barber ratio? Mrs. Ward foresees no important increase in number of girl barbers. It's still basically a man's field.

After her apprenticeship in Canton, she was the fifth woman in Ohio to get a master's license. She barbered in Alliance for some time, then was associated almost five years with the late Jack Young in Sebring. Then she came to Salem.

She says men today are much more conscious of their hair and good grooming than ever before.

Among her roster of regular customers, who she takes by appointment only, is her husband Ernie, a plumbing and heating worker.

Some wonder if the barber business might run in the family. So far as Mrs. Ward knows, none of her relatives have been in the trade. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Myers of RD 4.

One daughter, Judy, comes close to her mother's work—at least by way of improving people's looks. She is a beautician at Patrick's Hair Styling Salon. Her other daughters, Sally, 11, and Patricia, 7, are students at Prospect School.

Mrs. Ward still has the straight razor she started out with as a greenhorn apprentice. "I wouldn't part with it for anything!" she added.

Activities Outside the Home

The generally accepted picture of women's organizations is a source of amusement to most men. And because women don't want to seem ridiculous to their husbands, they often refuse to take on real and worthwhile projects outside the home.

The fact is that most husbands are touchingly proud of their wives if they take on activities which will benefit their children or community.

Husbands may not be much impressed when their wives talk about how hard they are working on club activities. They know that most of the "work" is telephoning lists of names, arranging for speakers, being sure that the presiding officer gets a corsage, with the end result usually not really mattering one way or another.

But the husband whose wife is working hard for the P.T.A. or has taken over a Girl Scout troop or is Den Mother for her sons Cub Scout group is often so proud of her ability and initiative and the good she is doing that he can't resist the urge to brag about her.

So for the wives who complain to me that their husbands think an, thing a "bunch of women is trying to do is just so much wasted time and effort I'd like to say this:

Get interested in some really worth-while project that demands more of you than getting dressed up in your best suit and fanciest hat. Work hard at it and accomplish something—and you'll see respect replace amused tolerance on your husband's face when you tell him what you are doing.

Women do squander a lot of time and effort on clubs and organizations that haven't much real purpose and are not much more than time-killers for their members.

But any woman who wants to be of real use to her community can find a job that's begging to be done. Your family will be proud of you for giving your free time in worth-while service.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: When washing blankets, I always shake out the dust before wetting them. (People who are lucky enough to have dryers should put them in the dryer without heat and tumble them to remove loose soil. I find it far better to hand wash a blanket than to use my washing machine. The bathtub, washtub or my kitchen sink (if it is a small blanket) is much better.

I fill up the bathtub with lukewarm suds (enough to cover the blanket), and put the blanket gently into the warm suds. I use my plumber's friend to massage the blanket up and down . . . pull the plug out of the tub and let the water drain out. Then I gently squeeze the water from the blanket. Never twist or wring.

I REPEAT this procedure a second time and then rinse well in lukewarm water two or three times.

Since I found that our friend vinegar makes a lovely rinse water for my wool sweaters, I now rinse the blankets in diluted vinegar water, at least one cup of vinegar to a tub of water. To remove the water from the blanket I fold it in quarters, roll it up like a rolling pin and gently squeeze out the excess water while the blanket still is in the tub.

I hang the blankets over parallel lines in the SHADE, gently shaking them out so that they are in shape. Just before they are dry I remove them, shake them real hard and turn them over. This gives them a beautiful fluff. So does a slight brushing with a clean vegetable brush or whisk broom.

WHEN ALL my blankets are dry I gently steam the satin bindings.

I have washed rayon, wool and synthetic blankets by this method and have always had excellent results.

The next time you pour coffee, drink the second cup of it for me. I'll do the same!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To get a real good crease in your boy's trousers, take a large paper bag, wet it with cold water, wring it out (the bag will not tear) and use this as your pressing cloth. The crease will be knife sharp.

A READER.

It works!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If you want your little girl's nylon dresses to really perk up . . . starch them with dry powdered milk.

I use one cup of dry milk to one half gallon of water. Always let these drip dry. They come out looking like new. This method also works beautifully on nylon and dacron curtains.

A READER.

It's amazing but this works beautifully.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Oh, that miracle-working nylon net of yours! I was washing the woodwork in the kitchen and here is how I made my job easier:

I took a 12-inch square of your net and folded it until it was the same length as my sponge was wide, then wrapped it around the sponge and fastened it to the sponge itself with some basting thread.

The w.d. in the back of my stove (which always was a nuisance) needed only a once-over! Heloise's net sponge was slick as a whistle for this job.

By putting the net all the way around the sponge, I just keep turning the sponge over for clean surfaces. This also saves getting on and off that step stool so many times.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits.

Mahoning Jury Summons Officials Of Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Past and present city and police officials, including Mayor Anthony B. Flask, have been subpoenaed to appear before a Mahoning County grand jury investigating Youngstown area crime and vice.

Prosecutor Clyde W. Osborne said Friday the 11 on the newest list of witnesses for grand jury sessions starting Monday would be asked to supply the jury with information they gathered on crime and racket activities.

The list of witnesses include former mayors Frank Franko and Harry Savasten; Police Chief John Terlesky; former Police Chief William Golden; Vice Squad Chief Dan Magianetti; and former Vice Chiefs George Milovich, Nicholas Pavello, Sam Schiavi and Sam Farinelli.

Smoking

While the Public Health Service is not taking the report as its official stand, he said, the report is already under study and the Health Service will move promptly to decide what remedial measures it should take.

Terry said that if he were a doctor he would warn his patients against smoking, but if they insisted on doing it he would make sure they realized the risks involved.

He said federal agencies consider the report to have such significance and importance that he can assure there will be "no foot dragging" in deciding on action. However, no special panel is being considered to propose legislative or executive actions, Terry told a news conference.

A lack of bias on the smoking issue was a major consideration in the selection of members of the panel, but their report was sharply critical of the habit.

Other finds: —Smoking pipes appears to be a cause in the development of cancer of the lip.

—There are suggestions that other forms of tobacco use are related to other cancers of the mouth—but as yet they cannot be labeled a cause.

—There is evidence to support the belief that tobacco use is linked to cancer of the esophagus, the tube that carries food from the throat to the stomach. But the evidence is not yet strong enough to decide that tobacco is a cause.

The panel also linked cigarette smoking to peptic ulcers, to accidental deaths due to fires in homes, and to a reduction in size of babies born to women who smoke during pregnancy.

But the panel could find no direct or causal association between smoking and cirrhosis of the liver, or between smoking and toxic amblyopia, a dimness of vision.

The committee did no new research, but only evaluated current medical data.

Since the last Public Health Service study in 1959, Terry said, it was decided that so much additional information was available that a new study was needed to bring the evaluation up to date.

The committee tried to work out figures that would show how much the lives of Americans would increase in years if there were no smoking, but decided finally that the job was too complex, and any answer might be misleading.

Kenneth Garlock of Salem Is New Highway Patrolman

Kenneth M. Garlock, 22, of 394 N. Lundy Ave. who was graduated Friday from the Patrol Training Academy at Columbus, has been assigned to the Massillon barracks of the State Highway Patrol, District 3 headquarters.

Garlock, a 1959 graduate of Salem Senior High School, where he played three years of varsity football as a guard, ranked high in the graduating class of 30 cadets who completed 14 weeks of intensive training.

Garlock served as a dispatcher at the Canfield Patrol post for about six months before attending the academy in October. While still a high school senior, Garlock worked as an apprentice wood and plastic mold maker at Tooling Aids Inc. He was employed there from 1958 until 1960, spent eight months in Chicago as an apprentice ironworker for the Electric Furnace Co., then returned to Tooling Aids.

A small group of demonstrators had gathered at the county jail Friday night before Sheriff McGrettrick and two car loads of deputies whisked the woman from the building.

Mrs. Mallory was permitted to speak to the demonstrators from a window on the seventh floor of the jail. She thanked the group for their support and shouted that "justice will win in the end."

She had been in the jail since Thursday afternoon, when she was arrested in the office of her attorney, Walter S. Haffner, after U. S. District Court Judge James C. Connell denied a request for a writ of habeas corpus and stay of execution filed by Haffner.

Sheriff McGrettrick sought to pick up Mrs. Mallory Tuesday after the Supreme Court turned down the latest of three appeals filed by her attorney, but she had disappeared from the east side apartment where she had been living since she was released on $15,000 bond.

Common Pleas Judge Roy F. McMahon Friday refused to consider a stay of execution requested by Haffner in a last-ditch effort to save Mrs. Mallory from extradition.

Mrs. Johnson is going to look at the work being done by the Area Redevelopment Administration, an agency of the federal government set up to help communities to fight unemployment and economic distress caused by declining industries.

ARA is a project President Johnson says he wants to expand, in the unconditional war on poverty he proposed in his State of the Union message.

Mrs. Johnson's itinerary calls for a stop at Goldsmith Mills, a Wilkes-Barre textile plant being aided by an ARA loan, and for a look at ARA-backed Wyoming Technical Institute, where unemployed coal miners are being retrained for jobs as painters and lathe operators.

The highlight of the day will be the dedication of a new science research building at Wilkes College in Wilkes-Barre to promote chemical and electronics industries.

The major dedication speech will be made by Dr. Frank Graham, former U.S. senator from North Carolina who is chairman of the 25-member National Public Advisory Committee of ARA.

Mrs. Johnson, scheduled to speak about 10 minutes, will bring official greetings of the President.

W. Branch Board To Meet Monday, Review Topics

The possibility of educational television in elementary schools of the West Branch School District and changes in the athletic program will be main topics of deliberation Tuesday night by the newly-organized Board of Education.

Goal of the changes is to strengthen the overall West Branch sports program, according to executive head Clinton Heacock. Coupled with the discussion will be a financial report on the grid season by athletic director and basketball coach Joe Tucker.

Heacock said he would recommend to the board the use of 45-minute TV programs in West Branch elementary schools starting Feb. 3. The courses will include science, given daily, music, given three times a week, and art, twice a week.

The programs are being offered by Youngstown television stations and the sole cost to Mahoning County and city schools will be the cost of the video sets. The programs will run from 9:15 to 10 a.m.

Authorization for short-term bank loans to tide the school over until the distribution in March of state monies will also be considered, along with insurance for the new gym and approval of a temporary appropriation, one-fourth of the amount appropriated in 1963.

Traffic Accident Victims Improving

Carmen Nocera, 38, of 311 W. 9th St. is "fairly good" and Michael Kozar, 48, of 861 New-garden Ave. is "fair" at Salem City Hospital where they were taken Friday morning after their car was struck by a Greenford auto on Alt. Route 14, a mile east of Salem.

Nocera broke his left arm and Kozar, riding in Nocera's car, suffered lacerations of the face and forehead and left knee.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol said extremely icy pavement was the main factor in the mishap. Nocera was driving west when his car skidded left of center and stopped on the south berm. A car driven east by Donald Myers, 27, of Greenford was unable to stop on the slick pavement and slid into Nocera's vehicle.

Myers was treated for cuts and released. Neither motorist was cited.

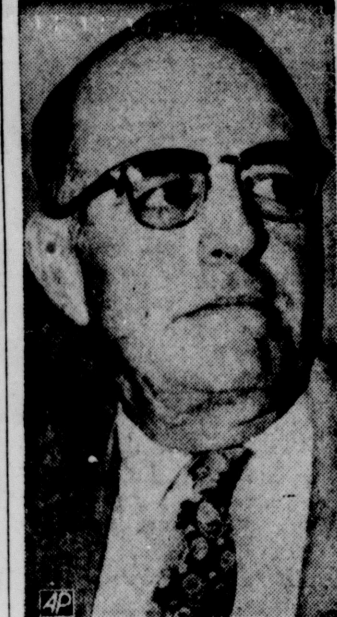

Barberton Man Joins Lisbon Post

W. C. Muckleroy of Barberton will be the new patrolman at the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol barracks, replacing Donas E. Johnson, who has been assigned to Ashland.

Muckleroy's assignment to Post 15 just outside Lisbon on Route 30 will be his first since his graduation Friday, along with 29 other new men, from the Patrol Training Academy in Columbus. Kenneth Garlock of 394 N. Lundy was among the graduates.

The new Lisbon replacement is expected to undergo a short indoctrination period at the district patrol headquarters in Warren before coming to Columbiana County early next week.

Johnson will start his duties in Ashland Wednesday. The Lisbon barracks was his first assignment in October, 1959.

ROBERTO CHIARI
President of Panama

Panama

ma. Chiari followed up Thursday night's recall of the Panamanian ambassador to Washington with a complete break in diplomatic relations with the United States.

Charging "unmerciful acts of aggression" by U.S. troops against Panama's civilian population, Chiari's government said only a U.S. promise to revise the canal treaty could bring a restoration of relations.

The 1903 treaty gives the United States perpetual control over the 10-mile-strip across Panama but Panamanians have long insisted they own the land.

After bloody rioting in November 1959, resulting from an attempt by Panamanian students to plant their flag in the Canal Zone, President Dwight D. Eisenhower said the United States had recognized Panama's titular sovereignty for a half century. He ordered the U.S. and Panamanian flags raised side by side at the edge of the Canal.

Panamanian flag flown wherever the Stars and Stripes is raised in the Canal Zone.

Then came this week's explosion. U.S. students at the Canal Zone's Balboa High School defiantly raised an American flag, and brawled with Panamanian students attempting to raise their own banner in front of the school.

The Panamanians charged their flag had been defiled. When word of the incident swept across the country of little more than one million persons, the violence began.

Administrators of County Schools Meet

Twelve Columbiana County school administrators met Friday noon at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

Supt. Oliver Payne of Lisbon exempted village school presided in the absence of County Supt. James L. McBride.

A discussion was held on a letter received from Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin in reference to discouraging school drop-outs.

Recent resolutions considered by the State Board of Education and upcoming legislation would affect the school systems, along with school calendars, vacations and individual school problems were discussed.

E. A. Larrick of the State Department of Education spoke briefly to the group, and Ahmad S. Khan of Pakistan, president of the government college at Hyderabad, was a guest.

The group's next meeting will be Feb. 14 at noon at the Wick Hotel.

In Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Scranton said he would withdraw his name from the Oregon presidential primary if he can do so the power to list all recognized candidates on the primary ballot, unless they sign what amounts to an affidavit that they will not become the GOP presidential nominee.

Scranton, who says he is not a candidate but would accept a draft, told a news conference that the secretary to Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon indicated to him he might be able to withdraw his name — even if he is willing to accept a draft.

At any rate, so far the question is pure conjecture, since only Rockefeller, Goldwater and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon have been placed on the primary ballot so far.

Johnson Orders Report on Causes of Panama Rioting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered a full report on the causes of anti-U.S. rioting in Panama, including any evidence that Communist agents whipped up mob action to fatal extremes of violence.
U.S. officials said they have reason to believe some Castroite Communist agitators went into action very quickly after the demonstrations began late Thursday. Johnson reportedly wants to know whether they played a leading role in arousing mob fury, organizing snipers and supplying guns and explosives for attacks on U.S. Canal Zone installations.
The President, grappling with his first major international crisis, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were keeping in close touch with Asst. Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann and Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance, who flew to Panama Friday.
Johnson told the special envoys to get all the facts bearing on the outbreak of violence and to make every effort through discussions with the Panamanian government and U.S. authorities in the Canal Zone to restore peace. At the United Nations Friday night, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said the talks were under way.
On another front, Johnson was faced with Panama's demand for drastic revision of the 61-year-old treaty by which the United States exercises absolute control over the Canal Zone.
In one of the numerous actions which the government of President Roberto Chiari took Friday, Panama gave notice to Washington that it was breaking off diplomatic relations and that it denounced the treaty. The pact was signed in 1903, concurrent with the establishment of Panama's independence, and it has been revised on at least two occasions by Panamanian demand.
Chiari is reported to have insisted in the past on a substantial increase in the $1.93 million annual fee that the United States now pays to Panama because of its use of the Canal Zone. He also wants some voice in the management of the canal.
The Johnson administration has not reacted publicly to Panama's denunciation of the pact, although Stevenson rejected at the United Nations Panamanian charges of U.S. aggression.
Officials said privately that the treaty gives the United States perpetual rights in the Canal Zone, to be exercised as if the United States actually had full sovereignty over the zone, and that there is no provision in the treaty for denunciation.

21 Members Attend Meeting Of Winona Woman's Society

WINONA — Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church met Wednesday at the church for a coverd luncheon meeting with 21 members present.
Preceding the luncheon, Mrs. Lowell Whinery led in a service of prayer and meditation.
Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Donald Mayhew and Josephine Dunn, with the program in charge of Mrs. Joe Arthur and Mrs. Walter Holmes, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Loudon, Mrs. Gilmer Coffee, Mrs. Francis Hawkins and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry.

Mrs. Grady Odom reported on the completion of the study book, "The Christian Family and Its Money." Action was taken to increase missionary giving.
Mrs. Joe Arthur announced the following suppers to be served: Feb. 4, Father-son banquet for the Damascus Men's Mission; Feb. 24, Winona Rural Club; and April 2, Sheepmen's Association.
Next meeting of the group will be at the church at 11:15 a.m. Feb. 5. Hostesses will be Mrs. Willis Heinbuch and Mrs. Don Coppock. Rev. and Mrs. Frank Tully will present the program, "You Are Christ."
Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Weston of Lexington were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry.

Louisiana Dems to Pick Governor

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana Democrats choose a governor today after a runoff primary that has little of the savage infighting which usually marks the hotpepper politics of the Bayou state.
The choice is between deLeases S. Morrison, 51, four times mayor of New Orleans, and John J. McKeithen, 45, one of the state's three Public Service commissioners.
The weather prediction was for partly cloudy and warmer weather with temperatures ranging from 60 to 68 degrees. A record turnout was expected at the polls which open at 6 a.m. CST, and start closing at 8 p.m.
Morrison, making his third straight bid for the state post that Huey Long held in the early 1930s, led McKeithen by 142,000 votes in the Dec. 7 first primary.
Eight other candidates drew 449,460 ballots. Where these votes go will decide the party's nominee.
Though this race has touched only lightly on hot issues, State Secretary Wade O. Martin expected the turnout from among 1.1 million registered Democrats to be around 930,000. That would top the first primary record total by more than 24,000.
The assassination of President John F. Kennedy halted anti-Kennedy stump tirades—stemming from the president's civil rights stand. After that, the campaign took a milder tone.
Morrison, because he was a Kennedy diplomat, drew most of the anti-Kennedy fire. McKeithen also was a target because he had supported Kennedy for president.
Sarking most of the campaign fireworks was a McKeithen charge that a Negro bloc vote swept Morrison to his first primary victory.
Although he could not prove it, McKeithen said there were indications of a Morrison deal with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.
Morrison, who said he was a segregationist, called the charge "bunk."

United School Girl's Pen Pal Visits From India

Miss Shirleen Howard, a senior at United High School, received a pleasant surprise during holiday vacation when she and her family were visited by a native of India.
Shirleen had been writing to a pen pal in India for two years. In September, his uncle, Vijay Arya, 24, arrived in this country to study for his PhD degree in electrical engineering at Ohio State University.
Through correspondence, the two decided to plan a visit shortly after Christmas. Vijay arrived at the home of Shirleen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Howard of RD 1, Hanoverton, by bus Dec. 28.
During his two day stay, Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Shirleen and her two younger brothers, Bill, 16, and Gary, 13, took Vijay on a sight-seeing tour of Hanoverton, Guilford Lake, Salem and Lisbon.
A native of Malout Mandi, Punjab, India, he had brought with him several gifts from India, including a printed silk scarf, a raw-silk scarf and a silver necklace.
Shirleen notes that her visitor's tastes in food are about the same as any American's but that he is becoming tired of potatoes because he has them so often.
The family hopes that during the next three or four years when Vijay is studying in this country, he will be able to make a return visit.

Harding Hands Salem 84-49 Setback In Big 8 Tilt

Sub Knight Gets 25 For Panthers

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

A spectacular performance by a Harding substitute and Salem's inability to hit in the second half paved the way as Warren handed the Quakers a 84-49 setback in an Ohio Big 8 Conference at Senior High gymnasium Friday night.

Tonight the Red and Black made their first road trip of the campaign to Boardman to face a dangerous Spartans' aggregation. Boardman has lost nine in a row to Salem.

Dick Androsko and Gary Johnson, senior regulars for Harding, did not compete against Salem. The two athletes are recovering from back injuries received in sled-riding accidents.

In the initial period, Don Fitch, who has been with the Harding team only a few weeks, aggravated an old football ankle injury and left the game for good.

HIS REPLACEMENT, Andy Knight, who has been a benchwarmer for three seasons, found the range and excited the Panthers' followers with his uncanny shooting.

The 5-8 senior canned 11 of 14 from the field for 78.5 per cent and three of four from the foul line for 75 per cent. He finished with 25 points to take individual scoring honors.

Salem's Chuck Joseph, slowed down by illness, displayed great courage, hustle and desire while he was playing. Coach John Cabas allowed the 6-0 junior to see limited action.

Right up to 2:34 of the second quarter, Salem battled the taller, more experienced Panthers evenly. Harding's go-ahead basket was made by Knight.

George Begalla made the first shot of the game to give Salem a 2-0 lead. He connected on a push to give the Red and Black a 5-3 margin with 6:30 to go.

DICK THOMAS, 6-1½ junior, gave the Panthers their first lead 6-5 by making an easy lay-up. Just before Fitch got hurt, he wished the net with a push shot to give Harding an 8-5 margin.

Wayne "Bink" Washington tossed in a couple of free throws to cut the deficit to 8-7. With the score 12-10, Harding scored three quick buckets. At the buzzer, sophomore Jim Lantz hit on a 30-foot shot for the Quakers, but the visitors led 18-12.

Lantz dropped in two free throws and Rick Gregg, a long push shot, to start the second session. At 4:37, Washington put the Quakers ahead 23-22 for the last time.

At half time the Panthers were out in front 37-30.

BEGALLA STARTED the third quarter the same way he did the first by sinking the first shot of the stanza. That made the score 37-32 and it was the closest Salem got to Harding the rest of the game.

While Salem was picking up nine points in the session, the Panthers had taken control and collected 21 markers.

Early in the final frame, Harding increased its margin to a 20-point lead 65-45, then spurred for nine straight points for a commanding 74-45 spread.

Salem made fewer mistakes during the contest than at any other time this season. The Red and Black had only seven turnovers compared to 15 for Warren.

Six of the Quakers' field goal attempts were blocked. Harding also had one of its shots batted away.

THE STORY WAS probably told best on the boards. Harding pulled down 59 rebounds, and the Quakers grabbed 35.

Harding had an uncanny shooting eye throughout and finished by making 46.6 per cent of its field goal attempts. The Panthers tried 75 shots and connected 35 times.

So hot were the visitors that they were able to toss in 16 of 22 from the free-throw lane for 72.7 per cent.

Salem, having a cold-shooting night, tried 63 field goals and hit 17 shots for 26.9 per cent. The Quakers did a much better job at the foul line sinking 15 of 24 free throws for 62.5 per cent.

Richto, who has started for Warren three years, chipped in with 22 points. Thomas and Bill Redderson 6-2½, who cleared the boards of 19 rebounds, had 13 points apiece.

Begalla led the Salem attack with 15 points. Washington netted 13 and Lantz finished with 12.

SALEM RESERVES LOSE 54-39 TO HARDING

A scrappy Warren reserve unit outlasted the Salem junior varsity to post a 54-39 triumph at the Quakers' gymnasium Friday night.

It was the fourth loss in seven tries for Coach Karl Zellers and his aggregation. Warren is 6-4.

The Panthers led all the way by quarter scores of 19-11, 28-20 and 41-24.

Ed Smith took scoring honors for the visitors with 17 points. Jack Lukko chipped in with 14. Charles Alexander paced the Red and Black with eight markers.

REACHING FOR BALL—Bill Redderson of Harding, hidden by Salem's Wayne "Bink" Washington (10) and Frank Strother (21) of the Panthers, pulls down one of the 19 rebounds he cleared off the boards last night. The Red and Black's George Begalla (44) watches. Action took place during the Big 8 clash at Senior High gymnasium.

BEGALLA SCORES — George Begalla drives in for a layup during action in the first period of the Salem-Warren Ohio Big 8 Basketball Conference clash Friday. The Panther's Mike Richto (20) and Andy Knight (12) position themselves for a rebound. Rick Gregg (14) of the Quakers follows the action.

Farmer's Shot In Last Seconds Gives United 57-56 Triumph

Dick Farmer was the hero for United High School Friday when he scored the decisive bucket which won the game for the Eagles over the Panthers 57-56.

Farmer sat out all of the third period and part of the fourth after chalking up four personals in the first half.

The exciting ending climaxed a give-and-take contest from the second quarter on. Score at halftime was tied at 31-all.

Chuck Clegg of Jackson-Milton and Homer Sturgeon of the Eagles tied for high-point honors with 18 apiece. Bill McGranahan of United, with 14, was followed by Chet Terry with 12 and Dan Daugherty with 10 for the hosts.

From the field, United hit 33 per cent, making 23 of 69 shots. Jackson-Milton shot 24 for 58 from the field for 41 per cent.

United connected successfully for 11 of 14 foul shot attempts, or 78 per cent, compared to Jackson-Milton's eight for 13, or 62 per cent.

The Eagles, under Coach Jack Mills, are now 6-3 for the season. They will entertain Canfield Friday.

An overtime contest found United's reserves nipping the Blue Jay junior varsity, 30-29.

San Diego Golfers Slowed By Icy Greens; Scores Close

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Open Golf Tournament clearly may be viewed with consternation, a measure of amazement and embarrassment, depending upon the viewer.

It may not be unprecedented but few people close to professional golf can recall when a round spilled over to the next day, two days in succession, with 30 players one day, and 42 the next, awaiting a second day to finish the round of the day before.

Frozen greens and falling temperatures in the night hours are causing the delay.

This was the picture Saturday as play was resumed at the 35-35-70 Rancho Bernardo Country Club course. Officially the scoreboard read:

West Branch Edged 48-44 Southern Local Bows 56-51 To Crestview

An exciting contest between Crestview High School and Southern Local High School at Salineville Friday ended when the visiting Rebels pulled out from a 51-all deadlock with less than two minutes remaining to squeak out a 56-51 victory.

Gail Baughman sank the tie-breaking bucket on a field goal in the final two minutes of play.

Bill Kress added a foul shot for better margin and Ricky Dicken ended the game with a Crestview field goal.

Southern's Tom McGuire was high scorer with 21 points. Kress had 13, followed by teammate Larry Athey with 12. Jim Pitts of Southern garnered 11 markers. Baughman, Ron Taylor and Dicken had 10 apiece for the Rebels.

Halftime score was tied at 23-23.

Crestview hit only 40 per cent from the free throw line, making 10 of 23 attempts. Southern completed 17 of 25 for 68 per cent.

Coach Bruce Weber's Rebels, now 6-3, will go again tonight at Mineral Ridge.

Poland Roms 61-45 Over East Palestine

The Poland High School Bulldogs, coached by Howard Kitzmiller, took an early lead and were never headed by the visiting East Palestine Bulldogs as the hosts were victorious 61-45 in a Tri-County League tilt.

Poland hit a sharp 50 per cent of its field goals in the first half to take a 27-18 lead at that point. The Bulldogs are now 6-2 for the season and 3-1 in league play.

It marked the sixth setback for Charles McBride's squad which has won two.

Roger Dyer of Poland had 13 points to lead the scoring, followed closely by teammates Jim Allen and Gary Baker and Dickey of East Palestine, who each garnered 12. Ward had 11 for East Palestine.

Poland will travel to meet undefeated Lisbon in a league clash tonight while East Palestine entertains the Louisville Leopards in another Tri-County encounter.

Blue Devils Chalk Up 8th Straight 63-58

Lisbon Rally Trims Columbiana

The unbeaten Lisbon Blue Devils fought back from an eight-point deficit in the third quarter and surged on to defeat a determined Columbiana team 63-58 Friday at Columbiana.

The victory leaves the Blue Devils, now 8-0, in a first place tie with Minerva in the tough Tri-County League. Both teams have won four league encounters.

Tim Bucher, who scored a total of 18 points, was responsible for much of Lisbon's sudden surge as he sank 10 of the 14 points made by the Blue Devils in the third quarter.

Greenford Loses 9th In Row 61-45

The Greenford High School Bobcats, trying for their first win of the season, were thwarted Friday by a visiting Lowellville team, by a 61-45 margin. The Bobcats have now lost nine in a row.

Coach Jerry Sues' charges scored only three points in the first period, compared to the Rockets' 22, and were never able to come closer after that.

Tim Davis of Greenford had 25 points. Bob Cicuto of Lowellville had 17 markers, followed by teammate Jerry Benson who garnered 12.

Greenford hit 63 per cent of its free throw attempts, completing 17 of 27. Lowellville made 13 of 24 foul shots for 54 per cent.

In preliminary action, the Lowellville reserves gave the hosts a 44-19 trouncing.

Salem 8th, 7th Grade Squads Post Victories

Salem's unbeaten seventh grade basketball team ran its streak to four straight as it knocked off East Palestine 43-18 at the gymnasium Friday.

Coach Merlin Davidson's eighth graders also triumphed 46-33 over East Palestine.

The seventh grade unit led all the way by quarter scores of 5-3, 19-8 and 26-15.

Mike Love, Chuck Jackson and Scot Crammer led Salem with eight points apiece. Joe Lewis collected four markers to pace the Bulldogs.

Louisville Rolls 61-34 Over Sebring

Coach Mike Riley's Louisville High School Leopards came back after two straight Tri-County League defeats Friday to trample the Sebring Trojans 61-34 in a league contest at Louisville.

Bob Gladieux of Louisville garnered 23 points to win high scoring honors. Mike Katich added 15 for the hosts. Dale Courtney had 12 points for Sebring. Mark Stier chalked up 11 for Louisville.

The Leopards scored 28 times in the second period to put the game out of reach and led at halftime 47-13.

Louisville hit 40 per cent of its field goal attempts, sinking 24 of 60 and garnering 50 rebounds. Sebring completed 11 of 38 attempts for 29 per cent and managed 24 rebounds.

Sebring bettered the hosts in foul shooting by sinking 12 of 16 for 75 per cent while Louisville hit on 13 of 22 tries for 60 per cent.

The Trojans aided the Louisville cause by giving up the ball on 28 turnovers.

Coach Riley used the event to celebrate the birth of an eight pound, two ounce baby girl, Lisa Ann, to his wife Thursday.

The Leopards, now 5-3, will engage in a league tilt at East Palestine tonight. Sebring will entertain Leetonia.

Minerva Rips Bears 71-52

Minerva High School whipped Leetonia 71-52 Friday in a Tri-County League contest to remain in a tie with Lisbon for the league lead. The Lions are now 4-0 in the league and 5-3 for the season.

The host Bears, coached by Len Batcha, are 0-4 in league competition and 2-5 in all games.

Halftime score found the Lions leading by only three, 29-26 but the third quarter made the big difference when Minerva picked up 25 points to Leetonia's 14.

George Zepernick marked up 25 points for Leetonia. Don Baxter with 18, Dan Clapper with 13 and Dave Simms with 12 led the Minerva scoring attack.

The Lions' reserves rolled over Leetonia 90-40 in preliminary action.

Coach Don Lawther's squad will entertain Columbiana in league competition tonight while Leetonia travels to Sebring where both teams, with identical 0-4 league marks, will battle for the cellar.

Ramos Whips Derado In 10-Round Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Slugging Sugar Ramos, the world featherweight champion, boosted his win streak to 46 by pounding out a unanimous 10-round decision over Argentina's Vicente Derado in a lightweight bout at the Olympic Auditorium.

Ramos, a Cuban now living in Mexico City, opened a cut over Derado's left eye in the second round of the Friday night contest and slowed him down with two punishing rights in the fourth.

Derado, 133, tried to carry the fight to Ramos, 132, in the early rounds and nearly forced the Cuban exile out of the ring with a series of lefts and rights in the third.

Officials scored the nationally televised bout, 6-5 7-4 and 6-2 in favor of Ramos.

The Clippers, although in the lead once in the final period by one point, were unable to contain the Lisbon attack. Lisbon used its height to great advantage in placing the contest in the win column.

Rick Perrin of Columbiana was high scorer with 22 points. Bucher with 18 was followed by teammate Dave Rose, who chalked up 17. Duane Spiker of the Clippers also netted 17 points.

Coach Gary Pike's squad will encounter another league rival when the Blue Devils entertain Poland tonight. Columbiana, coached by Rich Berryman, will also engage in a loop duel at Minerva.

In foul shooting, Lisbon attempted 27 and made 17 while the Clippers were successful on 16 of 21 attempts.

In reserve action, the Columbiana jayvees clobbered Lisbon 53-31.

Toronto Rips Beaver Local Squad 62-48

Beaver Local High School's shooting and free throw percentages were higher than those garnered by Toronto High School in a contest at Beaver Local, Friday, but the hosts were unable to make use of the percentages as Toronto came out the victor 62-48.

The Beavers were down by only three points at halftime 29-26 and managed to tie the score as late as the last period but could not pull out the victory. It was their seventh loss against no wins.

Tom Coulter of Toronto was high scorer with 32 points. Teammate Bob Urich had 15.

Norm Gaydos with 15, Ron Deering with 12 and Ben Springer with 10 hit double figures for the hosts.

From the field, Beaver Local hit on 20 of 46 attempts for 43 per cent, compared to 23 of 69, or 33 per cent, for Toronto. The Beavers bettered the visitors at the foul line, also, garnering eight of 13 for 62 per cent, opposed to 16 of 28, or 57 per cent of 13 for 62 per cent, opposed to 16 of 28, or 57 per cent for the visitors.

Coach John Pape's Beavers, looking for their first win of the season, will travel to Jefferson-Union tonight.

The Beaver reserves lost a heart-breaker in the final eight seconds of the preliminary contest, 51-50.

Unbeaten UCLA Whips USC 79-59; Kentucky Rips Louisiana 103-84

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
All signs point to 1964 as a glory year for unbeaten UCLA in college basketball.

Top-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll the Bruins of Coach Johnny Wooden made it 12 straight Friday night with a 79-59 romp over Southern California. The Uclans, led as usual by "Wonderful Walt" Hazzard, exploded for 50 points in the second half to win going away over the Trojans.

From the way the Bruins have been going UCLA seems certain to again win the Big Six championship and qualify automatically for another crack at the national collegiate championship in the annual NCAA tournament in March.

The national title eluded the Bruins in the NCAA tourney last year and also in 1962, 1956, 1952 and 1950, but this season they may go all the way. They have developed a devastating fast break, triggered by Hazzard and Gail Goodrich. UCL's triumph, in which Hazzard was high scorer with 21 points, featured a comparatively slim national program Friday night that also saw the second-ranked Kentucky Wildcats trounce Louisiana State 103-84.

Oregon State, No. 6, the other member of the AP Top Ten to see action, was upset by the Hawaii Service All-Stars 68-65.

In other leading games Princeton opened defense of its Ivy League title with an easy 86-57 triumph over Brown and the once-beaten Utah Redskins and New Mexico Lobos edged Wyoming 76-75 and Brigham Young 53-57, respectively, in two WAC contests.

Ted Deeken, with 27 points, and Cotton Nash, with 22, started Kentucky on the road back after the Wildcats had dropped two SEC games to Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. nd Bill Bradley, Princeton's star, finished with 24 points after getting only three points in the first half against Brown.

Annual Pro Bowl Scheduled Sunday

East Plans To Use 2 Backfield Combinations Against West Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fast Coach Allie Sherman will have his pick of two offensive backfield combinations when his squad meets the West in Sunday's Pro Bowl football game.

Sherman, who coached the New York Giants to the Eastern Division championship in the National Football League, named Charley Johnson of St. Louis today as quarterback in his starting unit.

Others in the unit are Tim Brown, Philadelphia, halfback;

Bobby Mitchell, Washington, flanker; and Jim Brown, Cleveland, fullback.

The other backfield has Norm Snead, Washington, quarterback; Don Perkins, Dallas, halfback; Frank Gifford, New York, flanker; and John Henry Johnson, Pittsburgh, fullback.

In the West's camp, the defensive squad worked Friday on plays the East is expected to use in the 14th annual classic.

"We have to assume that the East will use the best plays in Allie Sherman's New York Giant offense, plus what Sherman used in winning last year's Pro Bowl game," said Coach George Halas of the West.

Halas, coach of the National League champion Chicago Bears, added that he expects the East to come up with some trick plays.

The West elected Johnny Unitas and Gino Marchetti as offensive and defensive captains. Both with the Baltimore Colts.

Hardin-Simmons Drops Football; Lost $908,000 Last Nine Years

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Nearly always long on color but some times, especially in recent years, short on manpower and victories, the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, football variety, are no more.

Because of losses that aggregated $908,000 in the last nine years, Hardin-Simmons officials announced Friday that the West Texas school was dropping football, in which it started competing in 1897.

The chairman of the Board of Regents, W.B. Irvin, in making the announcement said, "the action was taken to accelerate progress of achieving the major objectives of the university in academic offerings."

Irvin said the decision would allow Hardin-Simmons to provide more physical education facilities for students and also allow the school to strengthen its financial position by decreasing its operating deficit.

Once the scourge of West Texas gridirons and accompanied by a band dressed in cowboy regalia, the Cowboys received support in the 1920s and '30s and were known as one of the most colorful football teams in the country.

But in its last 39 games, the Cowboys lost 35, won three and tied one. In that stretch it lost 27 straight games that included two seasons without a victory. Over the years, however, Cowboy teams won 240 games while losing 189 and tying 35.

Washington Touchdown Club To Honor Athletes Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top figures in sports and government join hands tonight to pay tribute to the standouts of the 1963 football season.

They'll also take time out to pay tribute to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The occasion is the 29th annual awards dinner of the Washington Touchdown Club, a glittering black tie affair expected to attract 1,600 persons.

Navy, rated a hometown team by Washington fans, will walk off with most of the honors, despite its 23-6 loss New Year's Day to national champion Texas.

Awards will go to the Navy team, as the outstanding major college team of 1963; Navy Coach Wayne Hardin, as the outstanding college coach, and to Navy quarterback Roger Staubach, as the outstanding college back.

Dick Butkus, University of Illinois center, will receive the only major college honor that slipped away from Annapolis—outstanding college lineman of the year.

The University of Delaware will be honored as the top small college team of 1963. Professional football honors will go to Coach George Halas of the National Football League champion Chicago Bears as coach of the year and to Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns as player of the year.

The climax of the evening will occur when Gov. Endicott Peabody of Massachusetts accepts the Mr. Sam ward given posthumously to the late president. Peabody is a Harvard football great and was a close friend of Kennedy.

The award, named for the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn, is given annually to a government official who has made an outstanding contribution to sports.

POLISHING THEIR PRO BOWL TECHNIQUE — Western conference quarterback John Unitas (Colts-19) hands off to fullback Jim Taylor (Packers), and Vikings' halfback Tom Mason (20) runs interference, in practice at Los Angeles for the big one—the Pro Bowl Sunday.

ATTACK BACKFIRES

BERLIN (AP)—East German troops lobbed tear gas grenades at a West Berlin television crew today but a sudden wind blew the gas back into the soldiers' faces, dispersing them.

West Berlin police said the television crew had come to the border between West Berlin and East Germany in the Spandau area to film East German troops ripping down abandoned houses on the frontier's immediate east side.

LISBON — Roger A. Hill, Lisbon RD 5, forfeited two $10 bonds Friday in Mayor Dean Stockman's court for failing to pay two overdue parking tickets.

Hill was contacted by letter to pay the $1 parking tickets, but failed to do so, so he was picked up on warrant, police said.

SYNAGOGUE CHRISTMAS

NEW YORK (AP) — St. George's Episcopal Church held a "Candlelight Christmas Carol" service, in memory of President Kennedy and former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, in Temple Emanu-El Synagogue.

FHA at Leetonia Holds Style Show

LEETONIA — A style show was held recently by the Future Homemakers of America in the all-purpose room at Orchard Hill School. Junior and senior girls modeled clothing they had made.

Miss Brenda Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilhelm, was chosen Miss FHA of 1964 by the Junior class. Brenda received a bracelet from the girls.

The club will meet the first Monday of each month.

FOUR MEMBERS of St. Paul's Lutheran Church were elected at the annual congregational meeting to serve on the Church Council. They will be installed during the worship service Sunday.

Robert Wheeler, Charles Stelts, and Donald Cope were elected to three-year terms and Mrs. Charles Holt was elected to a two-year term. Other members of the council are Harold Windram, Orrin Defenbaugh, John Mellinger, Ralph Van Fossan, and Edward Ryser.

BETA LAMBDA Sorority musical tea will be held at the Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. Monday. There will be 11 different acts performing. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

LEETONIA EXEMPTED Village School menus for next week are as follows:

Monday — Toasted cheese sandwiches, tomato soup with crackers, pickles, peaches, milk.

Tuesday — Spaghetti with beef in sauce, bread and butter, tossed salad, cake with cherry dip, milk.

Wednesday — Hamburg sandwiches, french fries, fruit jello, relish plate, milk.

Thursday — Roast turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy, hot biscuits, applesauce, milk.

Friday — Fish sandwiches, perfection salad, buttered green beans, tartar sauce, milk, cookies.

Columbiana OES To Meet Tuesday

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana Chapter 428, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Masonic Temple with Mr. and Mrs. John Elder, worthy matron and worthy patron, presiding.

Mrs. Elder will report on the district meeting held Tuesday at Alliance, which was attended by 10 members of the local chapter. A "hobby show" has been planned as part of the program. Refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend.

FAIRFIELD FRIENDLY Neighbors will meet from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Mary Fitzsimmons of RD 2, Middleton Rd. The morning project will be entitled, "Water and Its Qualities" with Mrs. Homer Royer serving as leader. Lunch will be in the form of a noon covership.

REGULAR MEETING of the Columbiana Music Study Club was held Wednesday at Jerusalem Lutheran Church. Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Gormley, Mrs. George Seederly, Mrs. Kenneth Rowland and Mrs. Kay Lodge. Hymn of the Month, "Be Still My Soul," was presented by Mrs. John McGeehen.

Mrs. Raymond Mackal presented a unit from Leonard Bernstein's Study Book, "Joys of Music," which featured the music of Bach: Mrs. Gordon Warner played appropriate music throughout the narration. A piano solo, "Air on the G String," played by Mrs. Helen Luek, was followed by a selection by Mrs. Donald Durr entitled, "Pocata in E Minor."

Mr. and Mrs. John Golden, Mrs. John Fitzpatrick and Gordon Warner, accompanied by Mrs. Warner, comprised a quartet which sang two Bach chorales. The program concluded with Mrs. Russell Lamoucha singing, "Let Us Strive To Be Like Our Savior," accompanied by Mrs. Durr.

Members of the club will meet for rehearsal for a special musical program at 7:30 p.m.

m. Monday and Wednesday at Grace United Church of Christ.

MEMBERS of Columbiana Senior Citizen's Club are asked to bring a sack lunch to the meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Firestone Park in Pavilion 4.

A program including music and readings will be presented in the afternoon.

A total of $225 was collected during the United Cerebral Palsy Drive held recently, according to chairman of the drive, Raymond Cole. The sum of $171 was collected through house-to-house canvassing by members of the Rainbow Girls, and donations from businesses and organizations totaled $54.

Ross Albright of E. Woodland Ave. was admitted to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Youngstown Thursday for observation.

PROGRAMS SCHEDULED

A program on "Water and Its Quality" will be presented at the meeting of the Franklin Township Home Demonstration Group Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Wilda Tennant, Rt. 644.

A similar program will be presented at the meeting of the Fairfield Friendly Neighbors Home Demonstration Group Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mary Fitzsimmons, Columbiana RD 2, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

PROBES TWO MISHAPS

LISBON — Two minor traffic accidents were investigated Friday by Chief Leon Zahndt.

At 12:25 p.m. Miss Winnie Warner of 252 W. Washington St., driving west, was struck by a car driven by Amos H. Gary of 209 N. Market St. Police said Gary failed to yield the right of way at W. Washington and S. Beaver Sts.

He was cited for leaving the scene of an accident.

The other accident occurred at 2:30 p.m. when Mrs. Charles Nace pulled away from a parking space on N. Market St. and was struck by another car. Police didn't list the driver of the other car.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

LISBON — A Salem area man was sentenced Friday for driving while intoxicated by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp who denied his request for a new trial.

Gene Daniel Boals, 33, of RD 4 was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $500 and costs. His driver's license also was suspended for six months. Boals was found guilty by a jury on Oct. 14.

Judge Sharp suspended all but 30 days of the jail sentence and half of the fine on condition that he be of good behavior.
